The GLG Life Sciences Customer Advisory Board (CAB) is a forum for senior executives of innovative Life Sciences firms to discuss how external expertise drives decision-making within the industry.

Convened by Gerson Lehrman Group (GLG), the CAB aims to transform the performance and productivity of Life Sciences firms by enabling them to better utilize experts, including KOLs, across a variety of departments—such as R&D, Strategy, Corporate Development, and Marketing—and across the entire product lifecycle.

Through regular in-person meetings and ongoing communication, the Board addresses the strategic challenges and opportunities facing the Life Sciences industry. Board members identify gaps in the current decision-making process and articulate specific ways to better, find, engage, and manage experts.

As the global marketplace for expertise, GLG is committed to working with thought leaders in Life Sciences to drive innovation in their industry.

The CAB is a critical mechanism to achieve this goal.
